Claims Excellence

The last thing you need during the claims process is complication. You need a steady, experienced partner with you from the minute you file a claim to its resolution. That's where we come in. Each member of our in-house claims team is specialized in a specific line of insurance. The moment you file a claim a single Berkley Environmental claims employee will guide you through completion.

From start to finish, your claim will be handled by Berkley Environmental staff. We care about OUR customers and YOUR claim. We are in this together! This sets us apart from our competitors who may use third party administrators, who work for many different carriers with a myriad of interests.
